Renee has a near perfect life: A grandmother who raised her, and she loves like a mother and friend; her grandmother legacy--the gift of seeing an individual's future; and the prospect of following in her grandmother's footsteps and helping people as a Voodoo priestess. But her life is about to be turned upside-down and inside-out when her grandmother commits suicide, leaving her alone and vulnerable, confused and overwhelmed, and surrounded by danger. And her grandmother's wonderful gift maybe be a curse and the ruination of her life. The one future see can't see—her own.
