The Battle for Earth is over, and with it, the Imperial Civil War has come to a close. Empress Merida now sits upon her throne, but the Empire has much to do in order to rebuild after the chaos the war has caused within and without their borders. For Mirikon Mollen and the Black Star Company, however, it is time to rest and recover after the long campaign, and prepare for their next adventure. ----- Mandatory disclaimer: This is a work of fiction, for god's sake! These characters are not heroes in shining armor atop brilliant white steeds. Don't take anything done here as a comment on real life. If you have triggers, consider this your warning.
