When Professor Jake Rothman refused to allow Karen to accompany the all-male television documentary crew on what she knew could possibly be the most exciting expedition of her film career, her blood boiled! The fact that desire flowed between them like an electric current didn't help matters. — But Karen refused to sacrifice her career to some outdated macho notions. So when she defied orders and joined the crew deep in the Guatemalan jungle no one doubted her determination. But now she had to meet the challenges of one of nature's most devastating forces...Jake Rothman.
