Belonging is the final part of Daddy's Rules and the third series.

Gabrielle Charles was a woman at a crossroads in her life. All hope seemed to be lost until she met a man who offered her everything she wanted one morning out of the blue. The darkly handsome rich and younger Frenchman is Valentin Coudray. He wants to bare Gabrielle's truth in the most literal sense of the world. He offers to become her Daddy and introduce her to the delights of the new world she craves to belong to in return for being allowed to love, protect and cherish her in every sense. In Belonging, Gabrielle learns Daddy will not tolerate her low self esteem and self hatred. He helps her understand just how perfect she is in every detail and that she now belongs to him forever. Publisher's Note: Belonging is the final short instalment of the third and last series of Daddy's Rules. If this style does not appeal to you then please do not buy this book.
