A young boy is forced to move into his great-great grandfather's mansion when his father loses his job. What at first seems like a curse of boredom turns into a thrilling mystery for the child when he finds that his ancestor was an adventurer who laid many secrets in the house's foundation. But as he delves deeper into the tale of his great-great grandfather, the mystery turns into a horrifying discovery of the past that will permanently change his future. What did Marcus Bandonnel seal beneath the mansion? And more importantly, why?
