Admitted to Cladcliffe Psychiatric Hospital, Savannah Stone suffers from memory loss and after a year, she still can't remember her identity. Her medication only makes things worse, and staff gets in the way whenever she tries to recall her memories. She suspects they're hiding a secret.

She still doesn't know who admitted her, and she's determined to find out. Revenge is on her mind and there's a power within, fueling her rage. The journey won't be easy, but Savannah is ready to escape Cladcliffe alive.
