Prequel story to Red Satin Lips Tamara Crozier, an Army registered nurse with one tour of Afghanistan behind her, just wants a night on the beach, fireworks and quiet. What she got was way more than she expected. Could she surrender her heart, soul and independence to the two men, or whatever they call themselves? Gage Evans and Lars Cooper were not only members of the Other Unit, they were also lovers. When Gage decided it was time for them to relax and enjoy the holiday, neither of them expected to find their consort sitting in the lobby of the hotel they'd booked. Could they help her forget the nightmares of her past? Would she embrace their dark love?
