Ian Stewart is lonely Dominant who has built his wealth by owning several bars in the Southeastern part of the US. Since his last girlfriend/submissive left him heartbroken, he has been reluctant to commit to another. However, Ian's best friend and business partner, Landon Wagner, is determine to remedy his situation. Thanks to an unorthodox agreement, Landon keeps Ian busy with perspective subs. Determined to break Ian from denying the thing he wants the most, Landon sets out to make sure Ian's inner Dominant is intrigued with Miranda, a recently hired waitress...and Landon's most recent submissive. With Landon's permission, Ian and Miranda communicate through text messages and Skype, building the trust they'll need to form a strong D/s relationship. However, there's something about Miranda which calls to Ian's protective Dominant nature. Wanting to see her happy and healthy, he takes her on as a submissive and learns she's everything he's ever wanted, but danger lurks around the corner when her old Dominant tries to take her back. Will the pair survive the sadist Dominant of her past?
