Stepping from Earth onto the threshold of Heaven, Lowell Wagner is given a mission: Go to a dark world with a message of salvation. Find the Great City; command its people to repent; proclaim the coming of a Savior.

When he enters this world, he finds himself on a cloud-shrouded planet in the grip of a strange and terrifying power that fights him from the start. Then there are the two races: the Kari, who dwell in the Great City where the Power dwells, and the Dughari whom they have enslaved. In this grim and desolate world, ruled by a supernatural force that no one dare stand against, how can Lowell hold out against fear and fulfill his mission? And what promise does he have of coming back to Earth?
