How can Fairy Godmothers help their charges find love in the modern world when nobody believes in magic anymore? Simple, they run a dating agency! Erica Stone has been given the gift of flaw beauty by her fairy godmother. Unfortunately it has given her nothing but trouble her whole life.

With the imminent release from jail of a man bent on revenge against her, Erica decides to run and hide. She chooses to use a dating agency in the hopes of throwing her enemy off her trail. She will spend three weeks in Italy, see how the land lies and walk away again, her fees and heart firmly intact.

Only she doesn't expect to lose her heart to the one man that doesn't want her..... Darius Valente has been in love with a woman he's known since childhood, but she's planning on marrying another man. In a desperate bid to change her mind, he joins a dating agency with one specific request. The woman sent to stay with him must be very, very beautiful. He's determined to make his beloved jealous and win her heart. What he doesn't count on is the feelings he begins to have for the feisty, ice queen that arrives on his doorstep..... Flo and Lotta once again have to raise their wands and fight to help their charges to find love, as enemies close in and life hangs in the balance. When all seems lost, can they turn the black clouds of doom into a bright happy ever after?
