FBI Special Agent Lee Collins is the sparkle in small town reporter Claire Wilson's eye. There's only one problem, he's a complete fabrication by video game developer, Lee Craig. One other small problem: he's ignored Claire's messages for weeks trying to get his company's newest game out by the holidays. Panicked by just how bad he's messed up, Lee jumps a plane for Mercy Ridge, determined to make things right and to come clean. Except Claire has lies of her own and she seems determined to avoid dealing with the collective mess they've both made.
