(Novella) Young Adult Contemporary Fiction Two months ago, Riley was heartbroken when her boyfriend of almost a year, James, broke up with her on her graduation day, and then left town without saying goodbye. She hasn't heard from him since that day. Until now. Now it's two months on. It's midnight, and she's just received a message from him. I'm outside. I need you. Three little words she's never been able to resist from him. Over the next twelve hours, follow Riley on an emotional journey, as she tries to work out why he's back. If he's staying and what she wants now that he's back in her life again.
