The true story of an epic 4200 mile bicycle journey across America. Three friends who are anything but elite riders, decide to embark on a journey that will take them across the country, even though it is their very first touring trip. They are met with voracious winds, seemingly perpetual rains, the most difficult climbs they have ever faced, bike malfunctions, and physical ailments, among other challenges. Yet they never lose their resolve, the ability to laugh, poke fun at each other, or make the best of a challenging situation. A tale of endurance and tenacity, of camaraderie and laughter, of success in the face of hardship.
