During the Mating Season, every werewolf must find a partner to help relieving the sex craze, aka the Haze. Since all werewolves who're sixteen and onward have sex during the Season, it is widely regarded as a social code. Not Sienna Mercer. Nineteen and very much a werewolf, Sienna prefers the human way of waiting for the right guy, or in her case her future mate, even if it means suffering a great deal of sexual torture during the Mating Season. But the Season isn't called 'Mating' for nothing, for the stakes of meeting your mate throughout the Season are much higher than usual, and with the Season in full swing and a certain alpha's contemplative interest, Sienna finds that, most likely, this Season she'll be virgin no more
