We box Jesus in. We say, “This is how he works.” But in answer to all the ways we aim to control, define and understand him, Jesus reminds us that he has immeasurably more to offer. How often do we feel as if we are at the end of our energy? Not just physically and emotionally, but also spiritually? Some of us have been running this race for so long. We get so weary. Jesus calls us all into a radical, empowered life that we couldn’t ever achieve in our own strength. To a dehydrated church, Jesus announces: MORE is always on offer.
